AT THE
Bennett House,
SALEM, OREGON.
L. JAY S. TURNEY,

HAVING LEASED THE ABOVE NAMED HOTEL, is prepared to accommodate the travelling public, and ONE HUNDRED REGULAR BOARDERS, in as good style as any House on the Coast. He has determined to make the "Bennett" as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem. He will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort, and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage.

He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem, and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department, and is resolved to set as good a table as can be found anywhere—not in clap-trap, pomp and show, flummery and fine furniture, but in an abundant supply of the very best the market affords.

His Bar-room will be kept warmed and lighted, and well supplied with newspapers, periodicals and other suitable reading matter, and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort.

In short, he intends making an effort to please ALL who stop at the BENNETT HOUSE. And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere, and promises if they are not well treated, and properly cared for, and at reasonable figures, it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant,

Railroad Charges and Profits.

Cheap transportation is so essential to the growth and prosperity of every community in any country that the subject has recently been most thoroughly investigated by the ablest economists both in America and in England. It has ever been the policy, rigidly enforced, of all railroad managers to conceal from the public the actual cost of moving trains and carrying freight per mile. Given charges to passengers and shippers per mile upon a road equipped to do all the business that can afford to pay the scheduled rates, returns a satisfactory dividend to stockholders. A larger outlay of capital, upon the enlargement of power and facilities, and a reduction of rates to increase trade, might make the same return, but would not increase the monthly dividends. It is not, therefore, the interest of the owners and managers of roads to increase the outlay of capital and enlarge the traffic by a reduction of charges, if the dividends per centum, on the investment, are not thereby enlarged. But to the public it is of the most vital interest; and if railroad corporations refuse to recognize and respect the rights and interests of the people in the transaction of business, as public carriers, it will become the duty of the sovereigns in this country to enforce their claims for cheap carriage upon the companies they have themselves created.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has taken the initiative in this work of reform. At the last session of the Legislature of that State, a joint special committee was instructed to investigate the management of the railroad connecting the cities of Boston and Albany. In the report, the committee charges the managers of that road with having limited the prosperity of the people, and with having impaired their reputation for enterprise. The State advanced its money and loaned its credit to establish direct and economical communication from the West to New England. The "Western Railroad" was completed, and traffic at once set in, and rapidly increased with the growth of the Western States. From 1856 to 1864, eight years, the through tonnage arriving at Albany had increased 149 per cent. During this period the road running from Albany to Springfield added to its equipment 212 freight cars, and the Worcester road added none. During the same time the New York Central Railroad, which is a continuation of the line from Boston to the great lakes of the West, added 2,095 cars, and increased its business 400 per cent., while that of the Massachusetts road had increased only 62 per cent. And as the increase of local business exceeds this, it appears that there has not been added one car to accommodate the through freight between Boston and Albany. This utter failure to meet the requirements of the public, and to comply with the original intent of the incorporating act, has determined the people of the Commonwealth to move in the matter, and to force the resumption of the franchises of the road by the State, to be managed by the people for the people.

A special meeting of the Boston Board of Trade was held on Monday afternoon, to listen to a communication from Josiah Quincy, on the subject of devising means for increasing the facilities for communicating with the West. In the course of the investigation Quincy thoroughly examined the railroad system and management in Europe and America, and has succeeded in finding one case, and one case only, in which the manager of the business of a railroad company in his report entered fully into the detail of expenditures and receipts, thereby showing the actual cost to the company of conveying coal on its road and incidentally on any other road. Upon this road coal is carried from the mines to the metropolis, and all trains returned empty, thus greatly adding to the cost of transportation. Trains of thirty cars each, and carrying 190 tons, were run at a cost of thirty-two cents for 100 miles. The "English Board of Trade," in London, has taken up the subject, and upon full examination reports that the average expenditure per train per mile, for all the railways in the United Kingdom, has been 62 cents, this includes all trains, freight or passenger, carrying between 200 and 300 tons each. The estimate is made to cover expenses for "maintenance of way and works, locomotive powers, repairs and renewals of cars, general traffic charges, Government taxes, compensation for personal injury and losses, legal and Parliamentary expenses, and miscellaneous and working expenses not included in the above." By the statistics of competing lines of road, Quincy shows that, in several contests for the traffic between common points, fares were reduced from $14 40 to $1 80, and freight charges experienced a like reduction; yet, at the end of the year, the companies found no reduction in the revenue, but still received a net profit of about 250 per cent. on the cost of running each train.

Assuming that the average prices per train in England are applicable in this country, and challenging those who dispute to show how they differ, Quincy says, "a train carrying 200 tons of freight or passengers could be run between Boston and Albany at a net cost of $159 50." The charges on this road are $7 per ton, or $1,400 for one train of 200 tons of freight, or $6,000, for passengers at $6 each. In the evidence appended to the legislative report, appears the fact that freight is carried from Western cities to the seaboard, a distance of 1,100 miles, at a charge of $10 per ton to the shipper. This is less than one cent per ton per mile, which is a paying rate, and profitable to the carrier. The charges, therefore, between Boston and Albany should be reduced from $7 to $2 per ton; and in order to accomplish this, and a corresponding reduction in passenger fares, Quincy proposes that the State shall as provided for in the charter, purchase the connecting lines between Boston and Albany, reduce the schedule of prices to one-sixth of the present rates, and place the management of the roads in the control of the Boston Board of Trade.

If it be true, as asserted by Galt, an experienced railroad manager in England, that a passenger can be conveyed 100 miles at a cost of five cents, certainly the people in this country are most outrageously taxed for the support of monopolies. If for ten cents, a passenger can be conveyed from Boston to Albany, and for fifty-cents to Chicago, the charge of sixty-three times these sums will not long be endured by the people.

It is undoubtedly true that low rates of transportation increase trade and promote the growth of population and wealth, and is, at the same time, profitable to the public carriers. The action of the people and Legislature of Massachusetts should stimulate investigation in other States, so that, if possible, the burden that hangs like a mill stone on the necks of the people and communities distant from commercial centers may be speedily removed, and the tyranny of monopoly be destroyed by appropriate legislation.—New York Tribune.

We witnessed a very amusing scene on one of our surburban streets recently. A fashionable young lady, got up in the highest style of the milliner's art, and arrayed in all the glory of a five-dollars-a-yard silk, a twenty dollar bonnet, and a three hundred dollar shawl, was majestically sweeping along in the direction of the Fair ground, while just behind a small boy was leading a pet coon. A countryman, in brown slouched hat and linsey-woolsey "warmus," came along followed by a "yallah" dog, whose nose, was scarred diagonally, transversely and laterally, with the scars of many a hotly-contested battle with members of the raccoon family. "Tige" no sooner saw the ring-tailed representative of his ancient enemy, than he made a frantic dive for him, accompanied by a furious bark. Cooney apprehending the situation at a glance, bolted incontinently, and sought a sanctuary beneath the ample circumference of the lady's crinoline. The young lady screamed, while the dog made rapid circles, snuffing the air, and evidently bewildered to know what had become of the coon. The situation of the young lady was critical and embarrassing. She was afraid to move for fear the coon would bite, and the coon declined to leave his retreat until the dog had retired. Finally the dog was stoned off, the boy dragged the coon from his hiding-place, and the young lady went her way, with a lively consciousness of having experienced a new sensation. As for the coon, he was instantly killed. He had seen too much to live.

Hon. John Bigelow, our Minister to France, writes to a friend in London, saying that he has resigned his mission and public life forever. "I left my library and its tranquil joys very reluctantly in 1861, and I have long yearned to get back to them. In political honors I find no rewards which compensate for the time they absorb and the privations they impose. Besides, I have certain cherished literary projects to which I am impatient to return."

A STATUE WITHOUT A HEAD.—The bustle now constantly observable in the Parisian Champ de Mars, consequent upon the preparations for the Exhibition, has induced the papers to notice—not, probably, for the first time—that in an obscure corner of waste land between the Avenue de la Bourdonnaye and the Rue de l'Universite there is a colossal statue in bronze of Louis XVI., which anybody may see by peeping through a grating. This statue, a splendid work of art, and perhaps the largest in the world, being twenty-two French feet high and weighing 100,000lbs. French, was cast in Paris in 1829, by order of Charles X., and was intended to be erected in a public place of Bordeaux. The reason as given by the journals, why the statue was never sent to its destination is, that the municipality of that city declined to incur the enormous expense of the transport of such a mass of metal. It has been suggested that now that the railway would convey Louis XVI. from Paris to Bordeaux for a trifling sum, the Bordeaux people would do well to claim their property and endow their city with a great novelty. Probably they will, if they can make out their title. But the Evenement gives a most extraordinary explanation indeed of the true grounds for the seclusion of the statue. It does not know the name of the sculptor, but says that it was cast by Crozatier, an eminent bronze founder, who died in Paris in 1855. This Crozatier, after his splendid copy of the Venetian horses of Bosio, which yet ornament the triumphal arch of the Carrousel, was presented to Charles X., who made him a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, and at the same time gave him the order for the colossal statue of Louis XVI. He took the utmost pains with the work, which he expected to be the greatest of his life. But, wonderful to tell and difficult to believe, when the molten metal had cooled, and the mould was removed, it turned out that the statue, perfect in every other respect, had no head. The bronze meant to form the head had in some way escaped through fissures intended only to carry off superfluity. Crozatier, though terribly vexed at his failure, set to work and remedied it in a few hours; but the story having reached the ears of the Duchess d'Angouleme, she saw the hand of God in the accident, and exclaimed: "For heaven's sake, let us spare this venerable memory from any further insult." These words were at the time equivalent to a command, and so the statue was left from that day to this hidden among heaps of rubbish.

A DECISION AGAINST THE INDIANA BLACK CODE.—The "black code" of Indiana, a code of laws bearing most harshly upon colored people, has been overthrown by a recent judicial decision. These laws provided, first, that no negro shall enter the State and settle there; second, that any person who shall hire or employ a negro, shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $500; third, that all contracts with negroes and promises to pay them wages for labor are void; fourth, that any negro who shall come into the State, with intent to stay or settle, shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $500. Not long since a colored man named Smith, a native of Ohio, settled in Indiana. He was employed by two white men who refused to pay him wages, on the ground that their contract with him was void under the law. He brought suit, and the case finally reached the Supreme Court, which swept away as unconstitutional all the legal quibbles by which the white repudiators sought to justify their dishonesty. Chief Justice Gregory delivered the opinion of the Court. The decision takes ground that the State Constitution and law contravene the Constitution of the United States, and are, therefore, void. The Chief Justice holds that no State can forbid the immigration into its borders of citizens of other States, either black or any other color. He decides that negroes are citizens. One of the privileges of a citizen of any State is to remove and become a citizen of any other State; and the Constitution of the United States declares that "the citizens of each State shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States."

RAILROAD MATTERS.—The Nashville Republican Banner mentions the meeting of the executive Board of Directors of the Tennessee and Alabama, Central Southern and Tennessee and Alabama Central Railroads, to perfect arrangements for the consolidation of the three roads, under the name and style of the Nashville and Decatur Railroad. The Banner understands by the terms of the consolidation that the old stock issued by the several companies composing the old line will be called in, and new stock issued by the Nashville and Decatur Railroad Company in lieu of the stock so surrendered, the new company assuming all the liabilities and credits of the old companies, and merging all the rolling stock and other property of the roads into the property of the Nashville and Decatur Railroad Company, placing the road under one Board of Directors and one management. Prospects are good for the early extension of the road to Montgomery.

A convention is to be held at Okalona (Miss.), on the 12th of November, to make arrangements for building a road from Memphis to Okalona, and thence to Selma. The Memphis Avalanche says a full delegation of the ablest business men of Memphis will attend the convention.

R. C. Brinckley, President of the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad; Colonel Samuel Tate, President of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, and Gen. N. B. Forrest are together soliciting the subscriptions of the Memphis merchants to the bonds of the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad.

The London Review observes that M. Melsens has recently presented a note to the French Academy showing that two salts having no chemical reaction on each other and each of which may be administered to an animal in succession without danger, may, if given simultaneously, be productive of death. M. Melsens gave dogs daily large doses of iodide of potassium without injury. He did the same with chlorate of potash. Iodide of potash is rapidly fatal to dogs. Although iodide of potassium and chlorate of potash have no chemical action on each other under ordinary circumstances, if given simultaneously to a dog they quickly destroy life. These experiments evidently have an important bearing on the art of prescribing remedies, for they show that medicaments, perfectly inoffensive in themselves, may, by being compounded together, and thus brought in contact in the laboratory of the animal frame, give origin to a poison rapidly fatal to life.

The largest crop of Sea Island cotton produced heretofore was about fifty thousand bales. The crop this season is estimated by the Georgia and South Carolina papers at not more than fifteen or twenty thousand bales, even with the benefit of favorable weather and the absence of frost. The crop is, however, much greater than was expected, for the estimate, two months ago, was for only one-sixth of a crop. There is but little cultivation of the islands this year, owing to the desolation of plantations by the war, and the want of capital and scarcity of labor. The price of Sea Island cotton is generally three times that of middling. Of the crop of this season, a considerable number of bales has reached the Charleston market, and brought from 70 cents to $1 26 per lb.—N. Y. Post, Nov. 2d.

BEAUTY.—The popular notions of beauty differ. Tamerlane's wife had no nose, yet she was thought a beauty by her friends, whilst a Venetian patrician with a small, insignificant nose was supposed to be too ugly to be Doge. Cicero admired a squinting eye, and Minerva was often exhibited with a dusky complexion. Some of the Greeks detested blue eyes, and by various artful means dyed them black. Hunchbacks have also been admired, the dorsal curve being declared to be the line of beauty, and the bump an ornament.

Hon. Meredith P. Gentry, whose death was recently announced, was long a leading politician in Tennessee. He filled a seat in Congress for fifteen years; was a staunch Whig as long as that party existed, and, in 1855, was the candidate of that party for Governor. His successful competitor was the ex-Alderman, Andrew Johnson. Since that time, and especially during the civil war, Mr. Gentry was not prominent in the politics of his State.

LIQUOR CONSUMED.—The Revenue Commissioners estimate that over 42,000,000 gallons of distilled spirits, 189,000,000 gallons of fermented liquors, and 10,000,000 gallons of imported liquors are annually consumed in this country, costing $500,000,000. The Government revenue derived from the liquor business is estimated at $16,727,280 annually.

CHANCES OF LIFE.—An old document contains some interesting information unknown to many, and rarely encountered in the papers. Among other things, it contains a table exhibiting an average age attained by persons employed in the various popular professions of the day. In this particular, as in most others, the farmers have the advantage over the rest of mankind, as their average age is sixty-five. Next upon docket come the judges and the justices of the peace, the dignity of whose lives is lengthened out to sixty-four. Following them, immediately on the catalogue of longevity, is the bank officer, who sums up his account at the age of sixty-three. Public officers cling to their existence with as much pertinacity as they retain their offices—they never resign their offices, but life forsakes them at fifty-six. Coopers, although they seem to stave through life, hang on until they are fifty-eight. The good works of the clergymen follow them at fifty-five. Shipwrights, hatters, lawyers and ropemakers (some very appropriately) go together at the age of fifty-four. The "Village Blacksmith," like most of his cotemporaries, dies at fifty-one. Butchers follow their bloody career for precisely half a century. Carpenters are brought to the scaffold at forty-nine. Masons realize their cry "Mort!" at the age of forty-seven. Traders cease their speculation at forty-six. Jewelers are disgusted with the tinsel of life at forty-four. Bakers, manufacturers and various mechanics die at forty-three. The painters yield to the colic at forty-two. The brittle thread of the tailor's life is broken at forty-one. Editors, like all other beings who come under the special admiration of the gods, die comparatively young—they accomplish their errand of mercy at forty. The musician redeems his last note, and plays his dying fall at thirty-nine. Printers become dead matter at thirty-eight. The machinist is usually blown up at thirty-six. The teacher usually dismisses his school at the age of thirty-four; and the clerk is even shorter lived, for he must needs prepare his balance sheet at thirty-three. No account is given of the longevity of wealthy uncles. The inference is, therefore, that they are immortal.—New York Albion.

FETICHISM AMONG SOUTHERN NEGROES.—A New York correspondent of the London Star writes to that paper as follows:

I met a Mississippi planter a few days since, who told me some facts that I have nowhere seen stated in the papers. He said that in parts of Mississippi and Louisiana also, the negroes are actually lapsing into idolatry, and idolatry, too, of the grossest character; and, what is very singular, this is the case among those negro communities which were regarded as the most intensely religious before and during the war. Left to their own resources, they have apparently forgotten their old modes of worship, or, at least they have substituted their own methods for those they formerly accepted. Some of them advance the extraordinary idea that Jesus Christ was a rebel God, and that he died when the Confederate Government was overthrown. They think, therefore, that it is incumbent upon them to set up a god of their own, and this they have accordingly done to a limited extent.

As I understand it, they worship images of their own manufacture, and they perform their devotions at regular seasons. Selecting some graveyard, they strip it of every living thing, even to the grass, and, beating the ground hard, they assemble in the enclosure late at night, and there perform their rites, which consist of sacrifices, dances, &c. The gentleman who made this statement to me also said that in certain sections of the States named the new "religion" was rapidly gaining ground, and the converts were numbered by hundreds. An intelligent army officer, who served in the war, chiefly in the southwest, and to whom I mentioned these statements, told me that in Alabama he saw several of the Africans belonging to the cargo which was landed at Savannah before the war by the slave yacht Wanderer, and he says that these negroes brought with them the seeds of the old Fetichism. He has little doubt that this new religion is a modification of that. It will be a curious study to note its development. Perhaps our foreign missionary societies may yet have some hard work to do at home.

CONTESTED DISTRICTS.—There are seven members of the Fortieth Congress who have the certificates of election, whose seats will be contested as follows:

Pennsylvania, XIIth District, Hon. Charles Dennison, Democrat, elect, vs. James Archibald, contestant.

Ohio, XIIIth, George W. Morgan, Democrat, elect, vs. Hon. Columbus Delano, contestant.

Indiana, IVth, W. S. Holman, Democrat, vs. General Ira G. Grover, contestant.

New Jersey, IId, Charles Haight, Democrat, vs. Hon. Wm. N. Newell, contestant.

Maryland, Ist, Hiram McCulloch, Democrat, vs. Colonel Samuel A. Graham, contestant.

Maryland, IId, Stevenson Archer, vs. Hon. John L. Thomas, contestant.

Maryland, IIId, Hon. Chas. E. Phelps, Democrat, vs. Joseph J. Stewart, contestant.

The contestants in all cases are radicals. Where, as in the XIIth District of Pennsylvania, fraud was public and notorious, Congress will have less trouble in coming to a determination. In all the districts there is fair proof, circumstantial and otherwise, that the small majorities gained by the Democrats were won unfairly; those of Maryland, beyond question.

THE NEVADA SENATORSHIP.—The Virginia Union has the following in relation to this subject:

The names of no less than seven of our most prominent men are mentioned as aspirants—Charles E. DeLong, James W. Nye, Thomas Fitch, John B. Winters, B. C. Whitman, Alexander W. Baldwin and J. Neely Johnson—but we do not believe they are all bona fide candidates; yet we presume neither of the aforesaid seven would indignantly spurn the honor were it thrust upon him. From present appearances and the best information now before us, the contest is destined to be a little warmer and more protracted than people anticipated previous to the late election. Before the election the battle was between DeLong and Nye; but now it is between a half dozen. The election of a few Democrats and Independent men to the Legislature, caused this. DeLong's friends claim his election as certain, while on the other hand, Nye's friends claim a sure thing for him. The other candidates, of course, have their votes, and they claim to have enough to defeat both DeLong and Nye. Whether this is true or not yet remains unsettled.

TOWN POPULATION OF RUSSIA.—According to a statistical paper just published, Russia (not including Poland) contains at present 414 towns, each with upwards of 5,000 inhabitants; 207 with from 5,000 to 10,000; 91 having from 10,000 to 20,000; 30 up to 30,000; 7 up to 40,000; 6 up to 50,000; 3 of between 50,000 and 60,000; 7 of between 60,000 and 80,000; 1 of between 80,000 and 100,000. Three cities only have populations over 100,000; they are Odessa, the chief port in the Black Sea, with 119,000; Moscow, the ancient capital, with 352,000; and St. Petersburg, the present capital, which numbers 540,000. Altogether, 773 towns and cities, giving a total of 6,873,720 inhabitants.

Death of Judge Stratton

Announcement has already been made in this paper of the death of RILEY E. STRATTON, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon. His death occurred at his residence in Eugene City, on the evening of the 26th of December, and seems to have been sudden and unexpected.

Judge Stratton was born in McKean county, Pennsylvania, about the year 1823. In his youth he learned the trade of a millwright, which, however, he did not follow for any great length of time. He afterwards began a collegiate course of study, and graduated at a College in the State of Ohio. It was his purpose at the time to enter the ministry, but changing his plans soon afterwards, he began the study of the law. He was admitted to the bar at Madison, Indiana, where he practised until 1852, when he determined to come to Oregon. Taking passage by way of Cape Horn, he arrived in Oregon towards the close of 1852, and established himself in the Southern part of the then Territory. In 1853 he engaged in the practice of his profession at Scottsburg, and was also interested in mercantile pursuits at the same place. In the winter of the same year he was elected Prosecuting Attorney by the Territorial Legislature, for the Southern District of Oregon—a position to which, on the expiration of his term he was re-elected by the people. When the State government was formed in 1858, he was elected Judge of the 2d Judicial District and was re-elected in 1864. In politics Judge Stratton was, in early life, a Democrat, but possessed of strong anti-slavery tendencies. In 1848 he supported Van Buren and Adams, the Freesoil candidates for President and Vice President. He acted with the Democratic party of this State until the commencement of the rebellion, when he severed his connection with it, refusing to follow it in its opposition to the war for the preservation of the Union. Since that time he has acted steadily with the Union party. He was a man of generous impulses and was equally esteemed in private life and on the Bench. His death leaves a vacancy which will be filled by appointment by the Governor.

No Step Backward.

Gov. Marvin of Florida, like all the rest of the Southern Governors, is nothing if not "conservative." Not long ago he, in company with many others of the poor innocents of his section who are now thought so hardly of for having been engaged in the letting of loyal blood, came up to the North to instruct the traitors who overthrew the Southern Confederacy in their duties to the Union and the Constitution. At Brooklyn he made a speech in which the following passage occurs:

> "I want to know what the Republican party are to do with these ten States, provided the amendment now proposed be not ratified? This is a fair question. I want the leaders of the radicals to tell the people what they are going to do with the ten States in case the amendment is not ratified, and those States, let me tell you, will never ratify the amendment. They will not do it in one year or five years, or any number of years."

His Excellency has probably, before this time, obtained some information on the subject of his interrogatories. What "the Republican party will do with these ten States" is now, no doubt, well enough understood even by such men as Gov. Marvin. He and all others have by this time ascertained that the "radical leaders" are not utterly nonplussed by the defiant refusal of the South to accept the terms which were offered. Territorial governments will come next. The more thorough class of radicals will now have their way. If the Southern politicians had been purposely playing into the hands of the Stevens, Butler and Sumner, they could not have done it more effectually. The repudiation of the amendment by the South has intensified and strengthened radicalism in the North, and has utterly ruined the hopes of "conservatism." Moderate Republicans will now act with the more radical members of their party. They have no alternative. They cannot consent to go back from the amendment and take less than it demands. A people victorious in the field, and again victorious at the ballot box, will not be frightened from their purpose by mere bravado like that of Gov Marvin and his associates. "The South will not adopt the amendment in one year, or five years or any number of years." Very well; the loyal States will adopt it, and it will make little difference whether the disloyal communities formally adopt it or not. The principles enunciated in it will prevail. It is impossible for any party to resist them.

From the subdued tone of the Statesman of this week it is manifest that the schoolmaster has been giving the boy who does up the editorials for that paper a severe drubbing for the turgid declamation and bombastic style of his articles in former numbers. Probably the boy will now and then break out again in the old strain, but an occasional application of the schoolmaster's ferule or rod will bring him down from his stilted phrases to the low level of his natural capabilities.

The Old State House in Boston,—the house in which, as the elder Adams said, "American Independence was born,"—is being pulled down. It was in this building where, in 1761, Otis made his tremendous speech in which the words were first used: "Taxation without representation is tyranny."

The population of New York city in 1790 was 33,000. Ten years later it amounted to 60,000. In 1825 it reached 160,000, in 1850 it rose to 515,000. Its present population cannot be less than one million.

STATE ITEMS.

Last Sunday afternoon, says the Sentinel of the 22d, as Mr. Miller, of Willow Springs, was returning from the Dardanelle, with his family, his horses took fright and started to run. In trying to rein them into a clump of chapparal, one of the bits broke, precipitating Mr. Miller from the wagon, and making the team entirely unmanageable. Mr Miller seized the reins and endeavored to guide the horses, but to no purpose, and the wagon was overturned against a large pine tree and almost totally destroyed. An old lady named Doty, and several children, escaped serious injury, but Mrs Miller suffered a very severe fracture of the left leg, below the knee, both bones being broken. The case was immediately attended to by Dr. Cabaniss, and the unfortunate lady is in a fair way of recovery.

The Sentinel learns that the new beach diggings at Randolph are proving very extensive, and some claims have been paying one hundred dollars per day, to the hand. Empire City was nearly deserted at last accounts, most of the people having left to locate claims in the New Eldorado.

At a meeting of Warren Lodge, No 10, F & A M, at Jacksonville the following officers were elected for the ensuing Masonic year: W M, Alexander Martin, S W, J. L. Lowdon, J W, J B. Coats, Treas, J S. Drum, Sec., Chas W Savage, Tyler, R S Dunlop.

George A. Summers, the hospital steward who committed suicide at Fort Klamath, on the 10th inst, leaves a young wife, having been married only five months before.

FROM THE NORTH.

VICTORIA, Dec 27.—The schooner Alert, Captain Francis, arrived in port yesterday afternoon having on board Captain Sands, First Officer Hensley, and ten seamen lately belonging to the steamer Transport which vessel left this port on the 27th November, in tow of the steamer Isabel, bound for San Francisco under sail. The Isabel cast off the tow lines on the morning of the 28th, about twenty five miles south east of Cape Flattery, and the transport seems to have drifted before a fierce south east gale for two days, and finally to have struck on rocks near Rafall Cove, at the entrance of Clioquot Sound, where she now lies abandoned. The men landed in a boat and lived on mussels and clams for two days, suffering a great deal from cold. On the third day they were enabled to reach the village of a friendly Indians by whom they were most hospitably treated. The schooner Alert Captain Francis, on a traveling voyage, subsequently sailed into the Sound, consented to forego his trip and return to Victoria with the distressed mariners. The transport was built at one of the mills on the Sound, and was intended for a Sacramento river freight steamer. Altogether she was one of the most unlucky looking boats to put to sea at this season. She had on board her machinery which was designed to be placed in working order upon her arrival at San Francisco and one hundred and eighty thousand feet of lumber. She was insured for seventeen thousand dollars and was worth with cargo and machinery, about twenty-five thousand dollars.

EASTERN NEWS.

BY STEAMER ORIFLAMME.

The following is all the news received by telegraph in San Francisco up to the sailing of the Oriflamme on the 24th.

Congressional

WASHINGTON, Dec 14.—Senator Wade declared in the Senate to-day that if the Legislatures of the excluded States did not adopt the constitutional amendments within a reasonable time, he proposed that the amendments will be forced upon the South by arms.

It is said that Stevens' bill for the reconstruction of North Carolina was prepared by [illegible].

In the House of Representatives to-day Shellabarger presented a memorial numerously signed by citizens of Louisiana among whom are Wells, Durant, Chief Justice Hyman and General Walker, asking Congress for the supersession of the President's policy by a government which will be loyal to the General Government and which will provide for equal franchise and protection. It was referred to the Select Committee on the New Orleans Riot.

Nebraska and Colorado will certainly be admitted.

The memorial of clerks in the Executive Department asking for an increase of pay was presented.

Thirty Senators and Representatives met at the Capitol last night, and organized a Congressional prayer meeting. Senator Foster was chosen President, and Representative Dodge Secretary. Remarks were made by Senators Wilson, Willey and Henderson and by Representatives Patterson, Maynard and Grinnell.

The Senate passed the House bill making appropriations for the deficiencies of the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1867, omitting the item of $50,000 for facilitating telegraphing between the Atlantic and Pacific.

Mr Wade's declaration in the Senate to-day was that if the Southern States fail to accept the amendments he was for using the strong arm of the military power and recognizing the Government on the basis of equal rights.

The Senate agreed to adjourn from December 20th to January 3d.

The House passed the District Suffrage bill under the operation of the previous question, 118 to 46, and adjourned till Monday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—In the Senate, Mr Ramsey introduced a bill making Agricultural College scrip receivable for pre-emption fees. It was referred.

Mr Sprague introduced a joint resolution instructing the Secretary of the Navy to direct the naval officers at Panama and Aspinwall to aid in the survey of a new route to the Pacific, through the Isthmus of Darien, whenever practicable without expense to the Government.

The Chair laid before the Senate a written inquiry of the Secretary of the Senate, whether Tennessee Senators should be paid from the commencement of the present Congress. It was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

In the House, Mr Julian introduced a bill to authorize the purchase or construction of military or postal lines of telegraph under the direction of the Post Office Department. It was referred to the Post Office Committee.

Mr Washburn, of Illinois, introduced a bill for the construction of a Government telegraph from Washington to New York City. It had the same reference.

Mr Julian introduced a bill providing for districts lately in revolt against the Government of the United States. The bill provides for temporary Territorial Governments for all the late rebel States, except Tennessee, suffrage being given to all males without respect to color, and all who have borne arms against us or held civil or military office under the Confederacy, to be forbidden either to hold office or to vote. It was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

The House concurred in the Senate amendments to the Deficiency bill.

Mr Wade called up the Nebraska bill. Mr Sumner opposed it, saying the act of yesterday should not be forgotten. The Senate had recorded itself in favor of human rights. It is now proposed to set aside that action, and create a white man's Government, such as Senators on the other side themselves favor. He said the Senate would not imitate the example of iniquity and remove to-day the web woven yesterday.

Mr Wade replied, advocating the admission of Nebraska.

Mr Gates spoke in favor of admission.

Mr. Sumner ruled the floor this morning owing to his vote on the Constitutional Amendment [?] He asked Mr Wade if he considered himself forced to admit the rebel States if they refused suffrage to the Freedmen?

Mr Wade said he considered himself bound to admit them if they ratified the Constitutional amendment within a reasonable time. He said, I am as much in favor of colored suffrage as anybody, but I will stand by my agreement.

Mr Brown offered an amendment in the same language as that approved by Sumner, and rejected in the Senate last session, when the bill was up, viz a proviso that the act should take effect only upon the fundamental condition of the abolition of all distinction in civil and political rights on account of color, and ratification of the condition by the people of Nebraska.

Mr Sherman said he felt bound to vote for the admission of Nebraska whenever she complied with the conditions of the Enabling Act. The proposition of Mr. Brown embraced the additional conditions, which it was not just to impose, after having, two years ago, refused to make them. Mr Sherman continued his remarks at considerable length, dwelling upon the statistics of Nebraska to show that she had population sufficient for a State Government.

Mr. Brown took the floor in advocacy of his amendment.

Mr Hendricks took the floor in opposition to the bill on the pending amendment, taking the ground that the majority in favor of the State Government in Nebraska was very small.

Mr Grimes moved to suspend further consideration and take up the resolution for holiday recess. The resolution was taken up.

Mr Fessenden opposed it. If gentlemen flattered themselves that there was nothing to do, all he had to say was to call their attention to the debate in the House to-day on the vote to take up the Bankruptcy bill and the pending bill to repeal the President's amnesty power. These, and a great many others, were to be considered. It was said by some that Congress would assemble on the 4th of March. Probably it would, but only to organize and adjourn.

After a discussion the yeas and nays were demanded, and the resolution was adopted—yeas, 27, nays, 26.

Mr Hendricks resumed the floor on the Nebraska bill, but yielded to Mr. Brown, on whose motion it was ordered that when the Senate adjourns to-day, it shall meet on Monday next, to go into executive session.

Adjourned.

CHICAGO, Dec 15.—A Washington special says the House yesterday made short work with the Senate amendment to the District Suffrage Bill. The chairman of the District Committee called it up, and demanded the previous question. Mr Hall, of New York, wanted to propose an amendment, but Mr Ingersoll declined to yield the floor. The Democrats not being inclined to filibuster, the bill passed, 118 to 36. Messrs. Raymond, Hale, Delano and Kasson Conservative Republicans also Maynard, Stokes, Hawkins, Arnold and Conness (?) voted aye, and Messrs. Hubbard, Latham, Whaley, of West Virginia, McKee, Randall, of Kentucky, Stillwell, of Indiana, Campbell, Cooper, Leftwick and Taylor, of Tennessee, voted nay.

No doubt the bill will pass over a veto.

Mr. Taylor, of Tennessee, declines to serve on the Committee to investigate the New Orleans riot, and Mr McCulloch, of Indiana, has been appointed in his place.

The Senate in Executive session yesterday referred the nominations to various committees, but made no confirmations.

WASHINGTON, December 17th.—In the House Mr Washburne of Illinois offered a resolution, which was adopted, directing the Committee on the New Orleans riots to investigate the alleged Custom House frauds in that city, and inquire into the expediency of withdrawing the circulation of the National Banks as fast as practicable, and an amendment substituting United States notes was rejected by a vote of 65 to 63.

The resolution of Mr Ross against the issue of any more untaxable bonds was tabled.

The resolution of Mr Baker, declaring against the further contraction of United States notes at present, was tabled by a vote of 88 to 58.

The motion of Mr. Ashley, of Ohio, to suspend the rules to appoint a Committee to inquire whether any acts have been committed by any officer of the Government to warrant imprisonment, was negatived.

The Ways and Means Committee decided to postpone all action on Mr Boutwell's gold bill till after the holidays.

Commissioner Rollins was before the Ways and Means Committee to-day upwards of an hour, in regard to Internal Revenue matters. He desired some additional legislation before the recess.

WASHINGTON, Dec 17.—The Ways and Means Committee of the House met to-day and resumed the consideration of the bill for the sale of $2,000,000 gold per week. Considerable debate was had upon the measure, without any result, although it was ascertained that a majority are favorable to the sale being made. It is doubtful now if any definite action be taken this session till January.

In the Senate Wade gave notice that he would move to rescind the resolution providing for the holidays as a recess. It was found that unless this was done the Suffrage Bill would be lost, as the ten days given to the President would expire during the recess, and the bill would fail. Sumner said the case referred to by Wade could be provided against by the Secretary withholding the bill until after the holidays, or such time as would secure the expiration of ten days after the reassembling of Congress. Some discussion took place on the motion to take up the bill and repeal the amnesty power of the President. The Senate voted to take it up.

Mr Saulsbury offered an amendment to strike off all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof a provision that the Acts to suppress insurrection and confiscate property of the rebels is hereby repealed.

General Ashley introduced a resolution to-day in the House, for the appointment of a special committee to see if any officers of the Government have been guilty of a misdemeanor. It looked like and meant impeachment. The Democrats resisted and the motion to suspend the rules, to get it before the House was lost by 80 ayes to 49 nays, there not being a two thirds vote in favor of the motion. Among the nays were Ames, Dawes, Defries, Deming, Hale, Hubbard, Jenks, Latham, Raymond, Spaulding, Stokes and Whaley, all Republicans. It will probably be renewed when the House is full and carried.

Sergeant-at-Arms Ordway started to-day with the Speaker's warrant to bring C. W. Culver, now improperly detained in Venango county. He will return on Wednesday.

Elliott and Shellabarger started for New Orleans this morning. Dennison goes to-night.

WASHINGTON, Dec 19.—A bill was introduced in the Senate to-day, making a grant of lands in Oregon to aid in constructing the railroad and telegraph from Portland to Astoria. The bill was ordered printed. Another bill enabling a similar grant for the road from Astoria to Salem was also printed.

A resolution was adopted to inquire into the regulations and restrictions of the immigration of the Chinese.

A long debate was had on the admission of the Territory of Nebraska as a State. The Senate adjourned while that question was pending.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Congress adjourned to-day till January 3d.

In the Senate, Mr. Pomeroy introduced a bill for the speedy construction of the Union Pacific Railroad southern branch via Fort Riley and Fort Smith. The Government to issue 6 per cent. bonds 20 years, at the rate of $10,000 per mile.

The Senate debated the Nebraska bill.

In the House, Mr Delano introduced a resolution forbidding the payment of any claim against the Government accruing prior to April, 1861, for any person who assisted the rebellion.

Resolutions were introduced that the committee report a bill to establish free schools in the District of Columbia, no child to be excluded except for improper conduct. The schools to be supported by taxes on the property of the District. Adopted.

In the Committee of the Whole Mr Lawrence, of Ohio, argued the passage of a bill raising the salaries and mileage of Congressmen.

Adjourned till January 3d.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—On November 21st the Indian Department advertised for bids for what goods are required for the Indian tribes and the time for receiving proposals expired to-day. Parties who had made proposals were present in the office of the commissioner and their respective proposals were opened. A casual examination shows quite a difference in the [illegible] of the proposed articles. It is understood that each bidder has furnished a sample of the article to be supplied under his bid, and some little time will be consumed in making selections. The determination of the Department is that the best goods of a substantial character, shall be received for the Indians and that the money appropriated shall be applied for that purpose.

WASHINGTON, Dec 17.—The report that Chief Justice Chase contemplates resigning his position to accept the Presidency of the Pacific Railroad is unfounded.

The Government, it is said, will make important disclosures in a few days about Surratt and his accomplices.

WASHINGTON, Dec 17.—In the Supreme Court to-day Associate Justice delivered an elaborate opinion of the Indiana Conspiracy case. All the Court answer in the affirmative the questions, viz: First, should the Court order a release of Milligan from military custody and send him to the civil tribunals? Second, ought the Court to issue a writ of habeas corpus to order his release? To the third all say "no." The question was—Had the Military Commission the right to try him? Chief Justice Chase and his Associates Wayne and Swayne dissent as to the part of the opinion relative to military tribunals. It will be recollected that the decision in the case of Milligan when he desired bonds was given at the last term of the Court, and the bonds were accepted after he had been sentenced to death, and he was released, now the decision at large has been announced.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—There is no doubt that a consultation has been held between the Representatives of South Carolina and Republican members of Congress, respecting the admission of South Carolina on the basis of the Constitutional amendment. There is a very current rumor that the question has been arranged, the former pledging their acceptance, provided there are no further conditions exacted.

The Postmaster General estimates that there will be 17,500,000 pounds of mail matter carried for the year ending June, 1867, between Atchison and Folsom, and that the mail by steamer to San Francisco will be 500,000 pounds; that to Japan and China, 350,000 pounds, and by the United States and Brazil, 40,000 pounds.

From the South

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec 15.—The House has indefinitely postponed a resolution expressing sympathy with Jeff Davis.

The Legislature has accepted the donation for establishing an Agricultural College, and appropriating the proceeds to a State University.

The Legislative Committee on the Constitutional Amendment, and proposition to call a National Convention, has reported adversely to the latter. The Committee say it is South Carolina's opinion, at this time, [that a Convention] would not accomplish any good. Besides, they consider such a course undignified.

NEW YORK, Dec 14.—The Georgia Legislature adjourned to-day finally. The President, in his closing address, urged all to obey the laws and the Constitution, but he said that human forbearance had limits which would turn if trodden upon.

The Speaker of the House bade the country hope that fanaticism would soon exhaust itself and Constitutional principles yet prevail. These remarks were received with applause in both Houses, and the sentiment appears decidedly favorable for a Territorial Government rather than to the acceptance of the Constitutional amendments.

WASHINGTON, Dec 14.—Messrs Holden, Poole and Taylor, North Carolina Unionists have left for home. They say the bill to form a new State Government has a good chance of passing.

Circulars distributed in Congress state that the test of loyalty in the insurgent States is essential.

Mr Holden and party represent forty of one hundred and seventy members of the Legislature.

Western Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec 14.—The members of the Western Associated Press held a meeting in this city yesterday to take into consideration the action of the Executive Committee of that body in dissolving their connection with the New York Associated Press and making arrangements for news with D. H. Craig, General Agent of the United States and European Telegraph News Association. After considerable discussion, the action of the committee was approved by a vote of twenty three to three. Five members were absent, or declined to vote.

CHICAGO, Dec 14.—The action of the editors of the Western Association on telegraphic news, is by no means unanimous, as the Craig party would have it to appear. The facts are that the Western Associated Press is a legal incorporation, heretofore has consisted of thirty members. The President in calling a convention of the 12th, invited all the Western dailies to attend and upwards of fifty did so. The Craig party finding themselves in the background refused to admit new members except in strengthen their side. The proceedings during two days, were somewhat turbulent, ending late last evening in a virtual break up. The final vote to ratify the Craig arrangement was 21 ayes 3 nays, 12 not voting. The latter 15 including the Chicago Republican, Chicago Evening Journal, two Detroit papers and Cleveland, Toledo and Milwaukie papers are now, with the excluded editors, organizing a rival Association to take Simonton's news, which comes regularly, in good time and shape, and is manifestly superior to anything ever before furnished the Press.

Europe Arming.

NEW YORK Dec 16.—The Herald says that most of the European Governments are organizing their armies and raising their reserves to a higher figure than at any [illegible] which they have hitherto stood. [illegible] ization the French army will amount to about 1,200,000 men. England which has hitherto been extremely careful about increasing her military expenditure [illegible] considerably to the extent of her army in [illegible] the Swiss Republic, which might be considered [illegible] such necessities is following the example. All this involves an increase of burdens upon the already overtaxed masses and with them an increased necessity of [illegible] changes. ST LOUIS, Dec 15.—Late Santa Fe papers report Indian outrages very frequent. A party of one hundred and fifty attacked the town of Alamosa and killed six and wounded three. They also carried off a large quantity of grain and nearly all the live stock in the place. A memorial to the Washington authorities, published in New Mexico says the Camanches, Navajos, Apaches and Utahs are constantly committing murders and robberies which the people are convinced will never cease until they are effectually punished and placed on reservations guarded by troops. GREAT FLOODS IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, Dec 22.—G. W. Colby of Colby's Landing, arrived in this city last night by the steamer Victor from Red Bluff and informs us that the high water on the upper river and the destruction of cattle, horses, hogs, sheep and other property are unprecedented. The country is overflowed according to his statement. At Soars' ranch, near Chico, the water was five feet on the floor.

At Tehama the water was so high that people went with boats in the streets and over the sidewalks into the stores. In Tehama county several hundred head of cattle and hogs were carried off.

The pontoon bridge at Red Bluff was carried off. At Colby's Landing, about ten miles above Chico the water stood at the depth of about two feet. Colby's loss is about $10,000 worth of hogs and a large quantity of hay. The Montgomery Brothers, at Colby's Landing, will lose about 2,000 sheep which were valued at about $20,000.

The Victor passed the swell of the flood between Chico and Colusa and it was supposed it would reach this city during this afternoon, but in greatly diminished height, as before reaching here it will spread over a vast expanse of country.

The new wing-dam constructed by the Levee Commissioners in the American river near Lobel's Tannery, was yesterday carried away by the freshet. The structure was about 600 feet long and consisted of three lines of piles substantially driven, carefully filled in with willow brush and ballasted with a large quantity of granite. It was far more substantial than either of the wing dams previously built at that point. At daylight yesterday morning it was apparent that a portion of the work had been carried away and the work of destruction continued during the forenoon until completed.

The cars of the Pacific Railroad were unable yesterday to run further east than Dry Creek, about 14 miles from the city. The bridge at this point has been rendered impassable by the freshet and the entire day was occupied by a large force of men in repairing damages. The water at Dry Creek was several feet higher than in 1862.

An extensive land slide occurred on the Sacramento Valley and Placerville Railroad near Latrobe on Thursday afternoon. The 4 o'clock train from this city was detained and was unable to get through to Shingle Springs until yesterday afternoon.

Droves of horses and cattle are being sent from Yolo to the highlands of Sacramento county.

The Storm at Petaluma.

PETALUMA, Dec 22.—After four days of almost constant rain it cleared up here suddenly at about six o'clock last evening. No stage has got through from Healdsburg since Wednesday though the mails and express were got through after a fashion. The roads in every direction are in a terrible condition, making them almost impassable for any kind of vehicles. Much damage has been done to bridges, fences, etc.

The Storm in San Rafael.

SAN RAFAEL, Dec 22.—The storm has subsided here, but there are indications, however, of rain. The recent heavy spell has had a damaging effect in this vicinity. The roads are in a horrible condition. Communication with the interior is entirely cut off on account of the swollen state of the streams.

The Olema and Petaluma stages failed to make the connection on account of the bad condition of the roads. The old settlers say no such storm has occurred since '52.

The Storm at Healdsburg.

HEALDSBURG, Dec 22—11 A. M.—A splendid morning, very high wind from the North, thermometer 54. The water is falling fast. The roads are in very bad condition. The river can only be crossed in small boats as yet. The mails and express left this morning. The indications are that the storm is over. A great amount of damage has been done to bridges and fencing.

The Storm at Santa Rosa.

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 22.—The roads are barely passable. Many small bridges are washed away, and considerable fencing, but no serious damage has been done.

The Storm in Napa.

NAPA, Dec. 22, 11 A. M.—The flood in Napa Creek has subsided. Though the damage, in the aggregate, may be considerable, we hear of no considerable loss. It is reported the railroad will be in running order on Monday.

The Storm in Sonoma.

SONOMA, Dec 22—11 45 A. M.—The storm here has resulted in some amount of damage to places on the creek and other smaller streams. The new mill on the creek was flooded so that some of the machinery was under water. The amount of damage is not known. One man had a mule washed from under him. The mule was lost. J. Bourne was carried away by the bursting of a drift; a Spaniard pulled him out by the hair and saved him. A few of the bridges were washed away. The Sonoma stage stuck last night in a wet weather spring; as soon as the crust on the top of the ground was broken a stream of water ran out. The horses were pulled out with ropes.

The Storm in Solano County.

SUISUN, Dec. 22.—Owing to the continued rains and an unprecedented high tide, the water yesterday, at 15 minutes past 3 P. M., was higher around the town than was ever known before, exceeding the great flood of 1862 by several inches. The streams throughout the country are swollen immensely; and in many cases bridges have been carried away, and communication rendered impossible.

POLICE COURT.—In Police Court, before J. J. Hoffman, [illegible], yesterday, appeared Wm. Sweeney upon a charge of having resisted a peace officer. It seems that the attention of several of the policemen was attracted by a pistol shot fired at the Mammoth saloon, on Morrison street, near Front. On arriving at the saloon, they found S. B. Vance with a pistol in his hands and it pointed upwards. The officer seized hold of the pistol, endeavoring to wrest it from Vance, when the defendent, Sweeney, rushed in and seized hold of the pistol and said to Vance "to let him have it," and seemed to think that Vance would let him have it. Vance, in his testimony, said that he thought that Sweeney feared that he would do hurt with the pistol, and wished to assist the officer. The officer succeeded in getting possession of the pistol, when both were arrested and taken to jail. Decision will be rendered in this case this morning.

Wm. Connor was brought up for sentence. He was held to answer on a charge of grand larceny in stealing a frame of sun pearls. On the charge of petty larceny, in [illegible] photographs, he was sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail for one year. On the charge of petty larceny, in stealing rocking horse, he was sentenced to six months imprisonment. On the charge of petty larceny, in stealing a hat, he was sentenced to three months imprisonment.

James Simmons, charged with larceny in stealing seven pairs of boots from the store of A. D. Shelby. Mr. [illegible] identified the property, and said that on the evening of the 24th inst. he closed the store at nine o'clock, [illegible] the shutters and locking the store as usual. The boots were in the show window when he left the store. When he returned in the morning the boots were gone. Mr. Ward testified that he was informed by Mr. [illegible] that he had purchased a pair of boots that he [illegible] were stolen. They took the boots to Shelby's, where they were identified. They then went to the [illegible] House where Simmons slept and found three pairs more.

Mr. Sutherland testified that he slept in the store, and that at 11 o'clock when he went to retire he found the back window open, the slats wrenched from the window and the window raised.

[illegible] stated in defence that on the evening in [illegible] he had gone to bed, and that while lying there awake he heard two men come into the adjoining room. He listened to their conversation and heard them talking about stolen boots, and "having made a good thing." After a little while they went away, when he got up and went into the room and hunted around and found four pairs of boots covered up in their blankets. He thought that if they "had so good a thing", he would have some of it too. So he stole the boots from them and took them away and hid them. This closed the case. He was committed for trial.

Andrew Simmons, for the same offence. No additional evidence was elicited.

La Drue, for the same offence, was remanded to jail, as his case will be heard this morning.

S. B. Vance, upon a charge of assault and battery upon [illegible], of Ada Phillips, a resident of Third street. It seems that he went to the house of the woman in question, and on gaining admittance had an altercation with her, which resulted in his striking her twice. He was [illegible] to six months' imprisonment.

THE NEW BOAT.—About 1 o'clock, yesterday, a large crowd gathered on the wharf to witness the trial trip of Mr. Siebert's new boat. This is a new invention and has created much interest. The principle upon which it is built seems feasible, and the idea will probably, at some future day, when matured, result in many beneficial results. The model as built by Mr. Siebert is very crude and imperfect. At the time of the trial, a strong wind was blowing down the river which added to the strong current, allowed obstacles enough for a so hastily constructed frame. The power which was supplied by men turning two cranks, was insufficient to show much of the advantages of the invention. The wheels could be turned but slowly, and we are unable to determine from the work done by this model, anything of its true merits as an improvement upon the means of progression now in use. We think as before stated that the idea is a correct one, but were much disappointed in the working of the [illegible]. There are obvious improvements to be made which would probably cause the model to work more perfectly. The friction to be overcome, owing to the size of the [illegible], is so great that the power is insufficient. We are much interested and would like to see a good model built with even the number of revolutions per minute given to the wheels that our common steamboats have. Then we think satisfactory results might be looked for.

LINN CITY RAILROAD.—The People's Transportation [illegible] began the work yesterday, of constructing a railroad around the falls of the Willamette, on the Linn City side. The lower terminus will be at the extreme lower end of the plateau and nearly opposite the new paper mill. The upper terminus will be opposite and a little above Canemah. The line of the track and the grade have been determined, and, should the weather permit out door work, portions of the rails will be laid [illegible]ately. The lower terminus will be built with an [illegible] grade like the one at the Dalles, so that freight can be landed at all stages of water, from the boats into the cars. We understand that the company has resolved to construct locks for the passage of boats on the Oregon City side and that they will probably begin the work next spring, or as soon as possible after finishing the Linn City road.

GRAND LECTURER.—Wm. H. Payne, the Grand Worthy Chief Templar of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars of Oregon, has appointed Capt. E. G. Adams Deputy G. W. C. T. and Grand Lecturer for this State and Washington Territory. He leaves this morning on a tour of the valley [illegible], intending to visit as far as practicable every town and village for the purpose of lecturing on temperance and organizing subordinate lodges. The Captain [illegible] an address before the Good Templars of Portland, at the M. E. Church, Wednesday evening, and we have heard it spoken of as a very instructive and interesting effort.

FIREMEN'S BALL.—We take pleasure in again calling [illegible] to the ball advertised for New Year's Eve, by [illegible] Engine Company No. 1. This company has been in existence for thirteen years, and has never asked or received a "benefit." Considering the valuable and [illegible] services rendered the city, by the Willamette, they certainly deserve something handsome now, and we trust the friends of the Fire Department will embrace the opportunity offered by this party to give them some substantial assistance. Tickets each, [illegible] supper, $5—a sum which almost any friend of the Willamettes can easily afford, even though he may not care to join in the mazy dance.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL.—On yesterday afternoon, at Trinity Church, there was a pleasant festival for the Sunday School scholars, and their teachers, parents and friends. The Christmas table and trees were loaded with [illegible] of books, toys and bon bons. The exercises consisted of singing Christmas carols, the recitation of the [illegible] creed, and the prayers and collects of the day; [illegible] the children, and a brief address of the pastor, and an address and benediction from the Bishop. The [illegible] of the presents was a pleasant and busy scene, and all in all the occasion was one to be remembered by those who participated in it.

FROM MONTICELLO.—By the Julia, from Monticello, yesterday, we learn that an affray occurred at a ball on [illegible] night, between two men named Barington and Whittle, both intoxicated. Barington drew a revolver and threatened to shoot Whittle, whereupon the latter took the weapon from him. A third party took it from Whittle, when he sallied in and gave Barington a bit of a [illegible]. The next day Barington was arrested for threatening to shoot. Whittle, but proceedings had not reached any conclusion when the Julia left.

BUCK.—As the steamer Julia was on her way from Monticello to this city yesterday, when near Martin's Bluff a fine two-year-old buck was discovered swimming across the Columbia river. A boat was lowered and chase was given. The Captain was fortunate enough to throw a band over the animal's head and the denizen of the forest was a captive—Here was an unexpected passenger. He arrived safely on the boat last evening.

[illegible]—The name James Vance was incorrectly [illegible] in the police court record for that of S. B. Vance.

ODD FELLOW'S ELECTION.—Chemeketa Lodge No 1, I. O. O. F., Salem, at its regular meeting, Wednesday evening elected the following officers to serve the ensuing term: W. K. Rigby, N. G.; E. B. Towl, V. G.; Geo. A. Riddle, Secretary;—Cooper Per. Sec.; and J. G. Wright, Treasurer.

INSTALLATION.—The Portland Royal Arch Chapter, Harmony Lodge No. 12, and Willamette Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M., last evening respectively installed their officers elect for the ensuing term.

NEARLY GONE.—The old year is nearly gone; the new year comes on apace and nobody will want to be caught in a shabby suit of clothes. The chances for buying a fine suit of Barman Bros. before the close of 1866, are now limited to a few days; but we are happy to announce that those gentlemen are laying out plans for a brilliant campaign for 1867. Having taken that fine brick building now known as the "City of Paris Store," on Front street, they will open early in 1867, a clothing house equal to any in America. As Barman Bros. have kept the lead in 1866, so they intend to keep it in 1867.

REAL ESTATE BROKERS, ETC.—Daly & Stevens carry on the real estate brokerage, collecting and general agency business at the corner of Morrison and Front streets, Portland. Their advertisement may be found in another column.

AT PRIVATE SALE.—Mr. Cohon having sold at auction the greater part of his stock of jewelry, will dispose of the balance on very favourable terms at private sale, until New Year. He has yet on hand a choice lot of ladies' jewelry, such as finger and ear rings, breast-pins, neck chains, lockets, etc.

HOLIDAY PRESENTS.—WEIL BROS. have a large and varied assortment of fine dress goods—such as Moire antique silk dresses, French and Irish poplins, etc.—which they are selling off at cost, affording an excellent opportunity for the purchase of HOLIDAY PRESENTS. They also offer, at cost, the choicest stock of custom-made clothing and Gents' furnishing goods.

Attention Fenian Guards.—Members will assemble at their Armory on Wednesday evening, Jan. 2, 1867, for the annual election of officers and to transact other important business. By order of

S. J. McCORMICK, Captain.

The weather is miserable and gloomy, but everybody desiring to purchase a good suit of clothes will feel good when it is known that KOHN & FISHEL at the St. Louis store sells clothing at greatly reduced prices.

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR!—ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL, 89 First Street, (Post Office Block) would call attention to the fact that it is customary to present those you call on New Year's Day with your PICTURE. Now those who are not supplied with CARTES DE VISITE, AMBROTYPES, SUN PEARLS, and other specimens of PHOTOGRAPHIC ART would do well to call at their GALLERY at once. Negatives taken in any kind of weather.

PICTURE GALLERY.—W. R. JONES having taken the gallery corner of Front and Morrison streets, Portland, would announce to the public that he is making PHOTOGRAPHS from Locket to Life size, AMBROTYPES, MELAINOTYPES, SUN PEARLS, and CARTE DE VISITE, plain or enameled, in the best style of the art. If you want card pictures with the most beautiful enamel, at lower prices than can be had in the city or State, go to JONES' GALLERY, corner of Front and Morrison.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.
Each package bears the signature of G. VENARD.

The Meadow Brook

Beside the meadow brook she strayed,
A happy child with laughing eyes
Above her smiled the soft blue skies
Around her there the sunbeams played

The brook went babbling on its way
All through the meadow bright with flowers
Of early Spring and through the hours
Made merry with her all the day

She sat beside the meadow brook
A maiden fair in Summer time
When the sweet year was in its prime
And in her hands she held a book

The sun all [illegible] shone bright above
The brook it sang a tender song,
Of love to her the whole day long
The book she read was all of love

Beside the meadow brook she stood
A matron in the noon of life
A happy mother and a wife,
Who loitered there in pensive mood

Around her fell the Autumn leaves
The meadow brook was almost dry,
And in the harvest fields hard by
The reapers found the year's last sheaves

Once more beside the brook she stands—
The willow's branches round her there
Hang leafless in the Winter air—
An aged dame with folded hands

Old memories her thoughts engage,
Whose every line she cannot trace
And frozen o'er the brook's still face
Is wrinkled like the face of age

Indian Life on the Prairies

Beyond the Missouri in the wilderness, is an Indian village forty-eight hours from Chicago It is as rude and old world like as Longfellow's "forest primeval" It might have been described by the old French fathers two centuries ago, just as you see it or the illustrious "native of Genoa," or anybody this side the deluge of Deucalion It is as much a stereotype, that village is, as a flock of muskrat houses, which in truth, it very much resembles You ride through the billowy country already described, seamed with deep "runs" and freckled like a face, with yellow flowers. You begin to find out, now it is wanting, how much company a fence may be, running along beside you post haste as you go, how much of their pictorial beauty the "pastures green" owe to flock and herd, and how a little sprinkling of Indians in such a scene seems to date the landscape back to the days of Leatherstocking, Hawkeye and Pathfinder, and you feel as if one of the old almanacs in which the s's were all f's would answer as well as any

But two signs of civilization appear—the trail beneath you that is flattened out into a wagon track, and the little patches of corn, shaped like an old fashioned harrow, that lie about on the sunny sides of the hills, patches belittled to vulgar fractions of acres These spots of earth have been greatly irritated by the squaws, and the maize has grown of itself, and amazingly tall You are nearing the village. Ponies of all colors poor enough to herd with Pharaoh's kine in the lean year—for their masters have just returned from the buffalo hunt—are sneaking around, dragging after them long lariats of buffalo hide Small pieces of bifurcated animal copper, "all alive" but not big enough to say "how," are tottering about loose, the soul of a shiny black button in every eye Fanky thirty muskrat houses removed out of their damp, Hollandic habitation to dry land, ranging in a circle and magnified to hight of twelve or fourteen feet at the top of the arch, and with a circumference, some of them, of forty. Cut a door in the side and build a narrow hall of approach, pierce a hole in the top for the light to go in and the smoke to go out, set weeds and flowers to growing upon these homely domes, lay lazy Indians at length upon the sunny sides of all of them—and you have the picture of an Indian Summer village.

Coming nearer, you discover lurking paths running in every direction among the tall weeds Squaws and children are constantly entering and emerging by the little hall door like the bees of an old straw hive on a pleasant day The sun shines and the tableaux are various and picturesque. Here, two squaws, with knives of bone are carrying a buffalo robe on the wrong side, stretched upon four springy sticks thrust in the earth and holding it tense and level as a table There, a mother with a round black head in her lap, is examining its contents, for the ideas of the urchin are pretty much all external and pediculous, and can be caught with that fine-toothed rake called a comb. Yonder an old grandma with gray hair sits upon the ground clasping her knees with both hands and swinging to and fro, for all the world like my lady in her rocking-chair Here a group of boys are shooting at wild thistle-heads with bow and arrow. The explosive merriment of the white and black race is wanting They laugh inwardly and silently, the smoky faces just brightening up with a show of teeth at a good shot, and that is all. But the girls have a laugh worth hearing. It bursts out like a peal of silver bells shaken for an instant, and then ceases like a bird you surprise in her song, only to begin it again in another place There, two Indians smoking a red sand stone pipe. Yonder, a brawny fellow asleep on the roof of a wigwam.

Round a little kettle-ridden fire a group of a dozen are gathered, some squatting on their haunches like hungry and expectant dogs, some sitting upon their heels, and one full grown young Indian in a napkin lies, as our first mother's unpleasant friend in Paradise was condemned to travel for all time, his heels thrown up like a couple of flukes, at one end, and his head on a level with the top of the kettle at the other.

A row of other dogs, only they are four footed, form the periphery of this family party, a sort of animated onion, if you please, you peal off an outer rind of dogs, then of Indians, and so on, dirt, dogs and savages, until you come to the kernel, which is the kettle The chef de cuisine is an old witch in a sort of aboriginal petticoat and short gown, and she is bending over the kettle of boiling fat, cooking "sage biscuit," to wit Lumps of leaden dough dropped into the fat. As fast as she forks them out on the ground—what should we do without it for everything to fall on?—a smutty arm with a hand at the end of it, is reached out, and the lump is drawn in towards the owner, the lips are cautiously retracted and the teeth set into the glowing and greasy morsel, much as a horse manipulates a thistle The feast is over and the dogs lick the kettle.

Passing through one of the narrow halls, built up of sticks and sods, you find the hollow dome as cool as a cavern. The floor is of hard, well swept earth, with a raised seat or couch running round the wall. Here a papoose is shelved, there a package of skins, yonder, the drowsy master of the household. You perceive the structure of the wigwam: poles brought together in the centre, thatched with wild grass and well sodded with turf; the amphitheatre is spacious enough for a large family, and day falls pleasantly through the small skylight. We have seen homes less desirable a thousand miles nearer sunrise, but the wild, smoky smell of the occupants suggests a burrow with a beast in it, and a doubtful, mingled fragrance of blanket and buckskin bewilders the sense, and you feel a queer propensity to scratch for somebody else to itch.

A capital place is a genuine savage dwelling to get rid of sentiment. The reader of Cooper, in love with the ideal red man, will find nothing there to deepen it. There was in our party a lady who had often, as she owned, felt like running away, letting her hair down, and being a squaw, The Indian she had known never soiled the clean white page of the book she saw him in, and his language read like a pleasant ballad But she went about here on tip-toe, her skirts lifted at half mast, as if in mourning for the sins of the tribe against cleanliness, touching nothing, as if everything was contagious and holding her breath like a pearl diver Her gods of fine porcelain had turned to the coarsest of clay, and the crockery, like that in the story of Ali Baba, was a greasy jar with a thief in it And so, good night to Pocahontas.

But these turfy domes, so cool in Summer, and by the same sign, so warm in Winter, are deserted with the first frosty howl from the North, for peaked tent of buffalo skin, something like an elongated chapeau bras such as stands yonder, with a dusky face set in the parted flap like a button "with a strange device" They pack pony and squaw and away they trail for tall timber put up their tents under the lee of the woods, and get the fuel for their Winter fires without packing it

The Dog Doctor's Secret.—Good food, dainties, and want of exercise are the destruction of parlor dogs They become fat with increasing age, and contract various diseases. At last a day comes when a dose of prussic acid must finish the business, or a medical practitioner must be called in, who will by a severe regimen restore the dog's health and appetite An ex kennel man in our neighborhood made a very comfortable income by this peculiar line of practice He divulged the secret of his system a few days before his dissolution to the estimable clergyman of the parish "I always tied 'em," said this canine Abernethy, "to a crab tree at the end of my garden, for a week, and gave 'em nothing but water. When I fetched 'em from their mistresses they refused to eat what I should have been glad to get, and when they went back they would eat what I couldn't have touched I've had some dogs twice or even three times a year, but I always cured 'em at last One of them was as good as three pounds a year to me I was terrible fond of him, but he never took to me, and when he saw me coming for him to bring down his fat, he would waddle away and howl enough to wake the dead Dogs haven't got no gratitude '—Field

The Lakes of Killarney

A correspondent of the Contra Costa (Cal) Gazette who is making a tour of Ireland, makes the following mention of this celebrated portion of the Green Isle

The Lakes of Killarney are lovely crystal sheets of varying shape and area gathered in wildly romantic and beautifully picturesque dells and basins of the mountains where the mosses the ferns, the ivy and the grasses wear the richest and softest tints ever seen, and every hill, bank and crag has a history every spot a name and legend, and every step is the haunt of fairies giants or demons * * * * * * * *

The guides among the romantic paths are skilled in drawing out with bugle notes the finest echoes of the crags and the boatmen of the lake make the air vocal with the sweetest native melodies and yet amid such picturesque scenes of natural beauty the great general burden of the people's longing is America 'Oh sir we would all go if we could' 'This year or next I hope to have as much as will take me,' is the universal expression With Americans these people open themselves very warmly and though very cautious about revealing their Fenian sympathies to us they complained 'Shure sir a young man can't open his mouth here, now'

The jaunting car is the riding institution of the country and a right pleasant one it is withal but the little long eared rough haired donkey is the universal beast of burden, and you will often meet him with his good natured face jogging along under a load of produce, or it may be of household traps, as high as a hay mow, and a man as big as himself mounted over all—the whole affair looking as if got up for comic illustration

CORK

Cork seems to me the pleasantest city we have seen in Ireland in this respect excelling even Belfast Its houses are of better style, more comfortable, and cleaner looking, than in any of the other cities Its streets in the business portion of the town are quite wide and handsome, and the hills, rising from the front, are occupied by residences of handsome and comfortable aspect Like all towns we have seen, Cork has its streets of wretched huts, and its dark, dirty, alleys, * * * * * but such quarters are less proportionately extensive than in the other cities

One of the Adams Family Beaten.—The following is an extract from a letter received in this city by a gentleman from his mother, who resides in Quincy, Massachusetts

Andrew Johnson removed, some time since, a man named Gill from our Quincy Post Office an excellent citizen and faultless as a Postmaster Young John Quincy Adams has been the Representative from Quincy, as was his father grand father and great grandfather He having turned Democrat, to the surprise and grief of his friends and most of the citizens, they declared he no longer represented Quincy, and they immediately elected Gill, the removed Postmaster, to supply John Quincy Adams' place Gill had the Post Office in his own store, with stationery, etc — good sized and comfortable, very neat and quiet premises The present Post Office is in a part of an apothecary establishment, where youth congregate and find temptation I know what such places usually are, and the Post Office is not pleasant for me to visit at present

Driven to Desperation —The Boston Voice says a Benedict, who has taken a wife recently, was driven to the extreme measure by the treatment received in the boarding house where he was sick recently He said he ordered the servants to bring him some gruel on Monday morning, but which he never got till Wednesday afternoon During his confinement not a single soul visited him save the young gentleman who cleaned the knives, he came not for the purpose of consolation, but to inform him that "Missus would be much obliged if Mr. would do his shaking on a chair, so as not to get the bedstead apart" This was the feather that broke the back of his bachelorship From that moment he resolved to connect his fortunes with a piece of dimity.

The Bishop of Wurtburg once asked a sprightly shepherd boy.

"What are you doing here, my lad?"

"Tending swine"

"How much do you get?"

"One florin a week"

"I am also a shepherd," continued the Bishop, "but I have a much better salary."

"That may be, but then I suppose you have more swine under your care," innocently replied the boy

This is to certify that I was blind for over four months and almost blind for one year and a half I tried several eye doctors but received no benefit I had almost given my case up as hopeless when fortunately I heard of Dr G W Brown now of Salem I was induced to try him, he performed a surgical operation on my eyes and gave me treatment I soon began to recover and in a short time I was perfectly cured I do this in justice to one who rescued me from a fate worse than death, and for the benefit of those who are laboring under similar afflictions that they may know where they can get relief It is now about eight months since my eyes were cured and they still remain good I can see to read the finest print without difficulty and my eyes can bear the strongest light without pain

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, September 26, 1866

1 All applications shall be filed within the period of six months from the 1st day of October 1866, and before any payments are made, shall be classified by regiments battalions or other separate organizations and no application filed after that period shall be settled until after the former shall have been paid

2 No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the Act and the further affidavit that he has not received, nor is he entitled to receive from the United States, under any laws or regulations prior to the Act of July 28, 1866, more than $100 bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion, over and above the amount therein claimed

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fœtid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co
